DETAILED ACTION

This is the First Office Action in response to the Election filed on July 14, 2004.

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 9-17, 20, and 22-24 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on July 14, 2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-7, 18, 19, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by DE 27 05 331.

The prior art to DE '331 illustrates a linear guide for transmitting a torque between a tubular housing, which is defined by a longitudinal axis and rotatable about the longitudinal axis, and a shaft, which is received in the housing and movable in the direction of the axis in relation to the housing, said linear guide comprising plural axial rolling bearings received in the housing in surrounding relationship to the shaft, wherein the plural axial rolling bearings are disposed in two radial planes in axial spaced-apart relationship, a center axis of the rolling bearing is shifted in parallel relationship at an offset to a normal upon a longitudinal shaft axis, wherein the bearing member has a cup-shaped configuration to define a convex surface for supported by a surface area of the shaft.

Using a linear guide/slide in combination with a vehicle steering column was well known in the art. Official Notice is taken with respect to the limitation defining the guide device used in combination with a steering column. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the guide of DE '331 in combination with a steering column, motivation being to provide a collapsible steering column having little backlash.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-7, 18, 19, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mainardi (USP 5,620,259).

Mainardi illustrates a linear guide for transmitting a torque between a tubular housing, which is defined by a longitudinal axis and rotatable about the longitudinal axis, and a shaft, which is received in the housing and movable in the direction of the axis in relation to the housing, said linear guide comprising plural axial rolling bearings received in the housing in surrounding relationship to the shaft, wherein the plural axial rolling bearings are disposed in two radial planes in axial spaced-apart relationship, a center axis of the rolling bearing is shifted in parallel relationship at an offset to a normal upon a longitudinal shaft axis, wherein the bearing member has a cup-shaped configuration to define a convex surface for supported by a surface area of the shaft.

Mainardi illustrates the rolling bearings as a cup shaped member (6) rotatably supported in the housing by ball bearings (7), but does not clearly show the rolling bearings having two bearing members and a set of rolling bodies disposed between the bearing members. However, it was well notoriously known in the art to provide ball bearings with an outer race member press fitted into a housing so as to define a raceway for the ball bearings. Official Notice is taken with respect to the limitation defining the press-fitted bushing to provide a raceway for the ball bearings. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide separate outer raceways tightly fitted into the housing of Mainardi, motivation being to provide a modular ball bearing arrangement for supporting the rolling bodies.

Using a linear guide/slide in combination with a vehicle steering column was well known in the art. Official Notice is taken with respect to the limitation defining the guide device used in combination with a steering column. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the guide of Mainardi in combination with a steering column, motivation being to provide a collapsible steering column having little backlash.
